

My enrollment in the Wisconsin No Call List is my signal to telemarketers that I'm not interested in the products they're so desperately trying to cram down my throat. I never intend to do business by telephone.

If the Consumer Banking Association succeeds in replacing the Wisconsin law, I, for one, will cease all business with and remove all investments from member banks.